FILM SYNOPSIS

What's in a Wine?

Promotes consideration of the value of voluntary initiatives, such as the Biodiversity and Wine Initiative, towards achieving regulatory compliance and incentivizing measures that go beyond the law to conserve natural resources.

Produced by:

Karin Neethling, Kozette Myburgh, Kate Edwardes, Kim Pontac & Kirsten Day

Don't be a Jackass; Save the Penguins

The success of Marine Protected Areas in the protection of Endangered Species at Boulders Beach in Simons Town addressing the threats to and value of the Biodiversity Management Plan for the African Penguin populations.

Produced by:

Adri Meyer, Clarissa Ferreira, Courtney Hill, Samantha Watts & Kimberly Joscelyne

To Mine or not to Mine

The ecologically sustainable development imperative: can phosphate mining on the West Coast ensure a benefit for the current generation and conserve resources for the benefit of future generations?

Produced by:

Erik Delpont, Roelof Letter, Jacque Wetselaar & Walter Anderson

A Hidden Danger

Sub-surface contamination resulting from underground fuel storage tanks poses a risk to soil and water resources. Our investigative team goes "underground" to see what a tank looks like, and talk to a range of experts about the impacts of leaking tanks.

Produced by:

Karabo Mokoena, Natalia Heita, Zahrah Ramjan, Erik Delpont & Kirsten Day

Destruction of Wild Abalone

Understanding the intensity and impacts of illicit harvest of wild abalone in the Table Mountain National Park Marine Protected Area: What are the possible remedial measures including the potential role of local communities?

Produced by:

Cliff Dlamini, Sandiso Zide, Natalia, Tabassum Paleker & Rose Birgen

The Final Flush

An investigation into the provision of the right to basic sanitation and how the lack of such services may infringe on the right to dignity and the right to a healthy environment - with a specific focus on raising awareness and knowledge on this sensitive, yet serious, problem.

Produced by:

Stanley Tshitwamulomoni, Tracey Mcgivern, Alecia Genise Moodley, Kate Edwardes, & Kimberly Joscelyne
