

Ms Jane Ezirigwe

Ms Jane Ezirigwe is a Research Fellow at the Nigerian Institute of Advanced Legal Studies and a Doctoral Scholar at the University of Cape Town, South Africa. She teaches Legal Research Methods, Advanced Environmental Law, and International Trade and Investment Law. Her scholarly interests focus on Food and Agricultural Law, Water and Environmental Law, and the Mainstreaming of Gender for Development.

She holds degrees and professional qualifications from the University of Abuja, Nigerian Law School, Harvard Law School, the University of London, and ESUT Business School. With over fourteen years of experience spanning legal research, consultancy, due diligence, teaching, and administration, she has worked across six countries in Africa, Asia, and North America. Her academic contributions include over twenty publications in peer-reviewed journals and multiple presentations at international and domestic conferences.

Ms Ezirigwe has served on the Nigerian House of Representatives Technical Committee on Environmental Law and Policy, and was part of the Nigerian Minister of Women's Affairs Advocacy Team on Gender Mainstreaming. She also coordinates the National Workshop on Food Security and Biotechnology in Nigeria. Her recognitions include the Alexandre Burman Memorial Grant at the University of Cape Town, the International Bar Association (IBA) Scholarship, and the Young African Leaders Initiative (YALI) Fellowship. She volunteers with the Women Aid Collective (WACOL).

Paper presented in 2018: "From Subsistence to Commercialization: The Legal Implications of ECOWAS Regulations on Transhumance on Livestock Investment Options."