As global standards tighten, companies are increasingly expected to respect human rights throughout their operations and supply chains.

This course provides professionals with a clear understanding of the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, human rights due diligence, and emerging legal and ESG requirements. Drawing on real-world case studies, it offers practical tools to identify, mitigate, and manage human rights risks, including in fragile and conflict-affected contexts.

The course is designed for lawyers, ESG professionals, development practitioners, and others seeking to understand or implement human rights standards in business operations.

PRESENTED BY: Dr Orly Maya Stern - consultant, lawyer and researcher. Dr Orly Stern is a human rights lawyer, researcher and consultant, with two decades of experience working across the African continent. She has consulted for international organizations, companies, governments, research institutions and NGOs, and has published extensively in her field.
