Litigation is dynamic and a lawyer has to 'roll with the changes'. As dynamic as it is, there are basic litigation skills to know and apply. These skills can be broken down into techniques. The key is knowing how to adapt these skills and techniques from trial to trial.

This four-hour course will cover topics such as:

- pre-trial processes
- the opening statement
- cross-examination and
- the closing statement

The course would benefit junior attorneys and advocates.
